

Decanter World Wine Awards - Logo Usage

Colours

The Decanter corporate colours are gold and burgundy.
No screens of this colour are allowed. The wine glass is made from a gradient of golds

Non gradient logo

There is also a version of the logo without the gradient gold. Preferably, the logo with the gradient will be used.

One colour logo

If the logo moves to one colour, the entire logo must be black or white.

Background colours

If background colors other than black or white are used, the background must provide adequate contrast for the logo. The wine glass can remain gold, but the rest of the logo must be black or white

Terms & conditions of use:

The DWWA logos are subject to copyright, so they cannot be altered or changed in any way. They must only be used for the appropriate winning wines of the correct vintage from the relevant year of the Decanter World Wine Awards. You may use these logos on your website or marketing materials to publicise your award (free of charge), but please note that as they are subject to copyright you may not print your own stickers or use the logos within a label design, without agreeing a licence fee with Decanter. To enquire on the cost of using the logo on your bottle label please email awards@decanter.com, including details of how many bottle labels or stickers you will be printing.

Use of bottle sticker artwork in marketing and advertising materials

The bottle sticker artwork can be used on printed and online materials. The bottle sticker artwork can be layered on top of, or next to, the bottle.

Use of bottle sticker artwork on wine bottle labels

Bottle stickers are available to buy from: shop.decanter.com
The bottle sticker artwork must not be incorporated into your physical bottle label, without prior agreement with Decanter. Please read the terms & conditions below for full details.
